NEW COURSES ARE OFFERED

Winter Quarter Schedule Includes New Courses and Required Subjects for Students Majoring in Special Departments.

The college curriculum continues to grow broader. New courses of interest and significance are being planned for the winter quarter. The administration is making a special effort to meet the needs of the seniors. Courses wanted by a sufficient number of students will be introduced if possible and justifiable.

Courses of significance that have never been offered in this institution before as reported by the different departments at the present time are: Latin 10a, for students, who are advanced in their college course but who have not had an opportunity to take beginning Latin in high school, providing such students warrant the belief that they can carry the work creditably.

The Renaissance and the Protestant Revolt, History 102, should appeal to student of literature as well as to students of history. Its peculiar interest lies in the fact that it introduces a new age. It deals with the foundation of modern society.

School Publicity and Finance, Education 180, is designed to meet Superintendent Lee's requirement of 9 hours in administration and supervision for high school superintendents and principles.

American Literature 130, covering the colonial and early national period, will be open to students who have had English 11 and 16 or English 6 or 63.

The physical education department offers clogs and jigs 72c, introduction to dancing 81c, scout movement 118, and corrective gymnastics 102.

Radio Activity and Electric Theory 141, will be open to students who have had physics or chemistry.

The administration emphasizes the following courses for the careful attention of students majoring or minor in the different departments.

English 102, dealing with the history of the English language, is especially for seniors majoring in English and will probably not be given again this year.

History of French literature will be given. This course is usually given only during the summer.

Intermediate Methods, education 26, may be chosen to meet one of the requirements on a 60 hour diploma. Primary Methods, education 25, is another course which may be chosen on a 60 hour diploma.

Primary Curriculum, education 95, should be given special attention by those specializing in primary work. It will not be offered again until the summer quarter.

Investments, 51 together with Mathematics 15, is offered for students in commerce. It deals with such subjects as annuities, bonds, payment of debts by periodic installment and such related subjects.

College Arithmetic 15, is a study of the fundamental principles of Arabic notation, the fundamental operations of arithmetic; a computation by means of logarithms, and the use of other mathematical tables.

Household Management 170, clothing 130a, clothing 13 and Foods 71b are required on a Smith Hughes Certificate; Nutrition 110b is not required.

Psychology 11, and Introduction to Teaching, are two required freshman subjects. The first subject is a prerequisite for work in education.

Any one who wishes to do practice teaching in the first to the fourth B grades may confer with Miss Paxton.

Any student wishing to do practice teaching in high school should consult Miss Margaret Franken at once. She can arrange work in any department including physical education and music. Credit in this teaching may count in either the major field or in education.

"America Pauses By" is the name of the play to be given tomorrow night at the regular session of the Dramatics Club. This is a tragedy in one act.

Tomorrow's production will make the fifth program of the fall quarter. The members of the club who will take part in the play are Evelyn Raines, Rebecca Brigg, Maurice Chick, and Duane Whitford.

At the Kappa Omicron Phi Meeting, October 29, Miss Jessie Parcher, of Maryville, instructed the girls on "How to vote the basket ball."

Commercial Courses Assure High Grades

Students! Here's your chance to make an E in English or any other course in which there is much written work. Here is the answer—take typewriting. You will save time, become more efficient in your work, and you will stand on the right side of the instructor who has to read your papers. A course in penmanship might help a few students, too. The department of Commerce and Business Administration will offer beginning courses in both typewriting and penmanship next quarter.

Two new courses in stenography, given next quarter and the beginning course will be given on demand.

One book-keeping course is scheduled for the winter quarter. This class will take up the study of accounting for a partnership business. Any student who has had the Single Proprietorship Course or any one who wishes to review partnership accounting may enroll for this class. Corporation Accounting will be offered in the spring quarter.

A course in the Principles of Marketing, Commerce 31a, will be given at the fifth period, following the fall course of salesmanship.

The second course in Business Law III, will be given at 11 o'clock of the winter term.

Any student who desires additional information regarding his commercial program should see Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Rickenbrode Home From Annual Vacation

If you don't believe we have a real, honest-to-goodness fisherman on our faculty, just go into the office and ask Mr. Rickenbrode for a certain kodak picture he has there. You will be convinced for sure then, because you will see with your own eyes a big string of fish held by the Registrar himself. Mr. Rickenbrode returned Monday November 3 from a three weeks fishing and hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Rickenbrode spent the first few days of his vacation visiting in Paola, Kansas, following which Mrs. Rickenbrode went to Kansas City and Mr. Rickenbrode went on to Arcadia, Missouri in the southern part of the state. Mr. Rickenbrode spent most of his vacation at Lake Killarney, near Arcadia. He also attended the Bearcat-Springfield game, October 24.

The solo-class program given Wednesday evening was very enjoyable, all college students and faculty are missing a real musical treat when they miss these bi-monthly programs of the pupils of the Conservatory. The following students took part: Wilma Cook, Hope Manchester, William Gaugh, Anna Vada Ciser, Ruth Houchens, Thelma Curnett, Elizabeth Mills, and Margaret Mills.

A number of girls of the Residence Hall who are interested in music met Tuesday evening in Mr. Richman's studio for the purpose of organizing a girls orchestra. Mr. Charles Gardner addressed them on the value of music. The organization was not completed at that meeting. This group of girls play for the afternoon dances held twice a month at the Residence Hall.

About thirty members of the College class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a Halloween party in the church basement Saturday evening, November 1. The rooms were decorated in Halloween colors. Games suggestive of Halloween were played and refreshments of cider and doughnuts, and apples were served.

Last week the Fine Arts class taught by Miss Hopkins visited the Franklin School to witness a demonstration lesson in art work of the first grade of that school under the direction of Miss Carr. Wednesday the class visited the Jefferson School to observe the art work done by the pupils.

Miss Winifred Clark of Columbia, and Maynard Collins of Maryville, were married at Columbia, October 25. They will make their home in Maryville. Mr. and Mrs. Collins are former S. T. C. students.

Raymond Houston went to Bethany Saturday, November 8, to referee the Harrison County Outdoor Basket Ball Tournament.

Iris Finney, a former student of S. T. C., is taking nurse training in the Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, Ill.

A BETTER TOWER IS PROMISED FOR S. T. C.

New Edition Enlarged by Sixteen Pages Besides Many New Features Added.

Now that the Tower Queen contest is a matter of history and the attendant excitement has subsided, the "Tower" staff again devote themselves to the production of a bigger and better yearbook for S. T. C. than has previously been published by any class.

Besides being sixteen pages larger than the 1924 annual, the present edition of the "Tower" embodies several new features and ideas.

With this issue our yearbook will have a standardized cover, that is the cover used this year will be used in the succeeding years. The design, to date, has not been selected but is to be in the near future.

A scene section, consisting of scenes taken in and about the college, is to be added. Pandora's Box and the Hall of Fame are two new features which are shrouded in great deal of mystery. It is rumored however that the student who gets his name or picture in either can be justly proud of the fact. Who, with his picture in the Hall of Fame would not send "Towers" to all his friends? Special prominence is to be given to the Tower Queen. Her picture is to be arranged differently from that of last year, how, it has not been definitely decided.

Also a page is to be given to the class selling the most annuals, to use in any way they may choose.

The sales of the book were discontinued on the day of the election of the Tower Queen. However another chance will be given sometime next quarter to those who failed to make their purchase this fall. The number sold cannot be determined until all the salesmen turn in their lists and receipts. From all indications though the sales have been rather large. The vote cast in the "Queen" election, a good criterion, was unusually heavy, being over twice as large as last year's vote.

Also we might add that the Stroller has joined the "Tower" staff. Miss Winn consented to lend him with the provision that she be returned in as good condition as when borrowed.

Educational Week Should Be Observed

American Educational Week should mean more to American school teachers than any other week in the year, because it is planned and set apart especially for the good of teachers, pupils and patrons of schools.

An idea of the importance of Educational week can be gained by success of the programs during the week.

Every community, every civic club and every school is urged to dedicate itself to the principle of Universal education for democracy, during the week of November 17-23. The Teachers and patrons have a wonderful chance to teach every child it's responsibility as a citizen.

Each day in Education week is set apart, and each daily program designed to teach some important principle of Education. Monday, November 17, is Constitution Day, Tuesday, November 18, is Patriotism Day, Wednesday, November 19, is School and Teacher Day, Thursday, November 20, is Illiteracy Day, Friday, November 21, is Physical Education Day, Saturday, November 22 is Community Days.

Student Loan Fund Aids Upper Classman

Do you know that the college has a student loan fund?

The purpose of the fund is to help upper classmen finish their college work. An amount of not more than one hundred dollars, carrying four per cent interest, will be loaned to the student. The committee makes very elastic arrangements of the loan.

The graduation class of 1918 started such a fund with sixty dollars. From time to time, different classes and organizations, have contributed large and small sums to the fund. Sometimes the gifts were money left after their picnics. The contributions have increased the fund until it now totals one thousand dollars.

Up to the present, thirty students have finished college with the aid from this fund. Half of these have been boys and half girls.

The committee would like to have the various college organizations help to enlarge the fund. It is for a good cause, one that lends an everlasting aid to Education. The committee is: Miss Anthony, chairman; Mrs. Perrin, Dean Colbert and Mr. Rickenbrode.

NEW CONSTITUTION PLANNED BY COUNCIL

Committee Bases It: New Proposals Upon the Great Federal Constitution of the United States.

The proposed new constitution, which has been in the process of framing for the past two weeks was carried into the Student Council last Thursday when the body met at Residence Hall in the regular bi-monthly session. The Constitution Committee reported to the Council that work on the proposed new document had gone as far as possible, and copies of the constitution were delivered to the members of the Council.

The next move in the process of securing a constitution will be a joint meeting of Council and Student Welfare Committee of the faculty for the purpose of discussing any changes or corrections that may appear necessary to either group. When the finished product is produced the Council will accept or decline the proposal in their regular meeting, Thursday, November 20.

In case the constitution suggested by the committee is accepted, it will be referred to the student body, and will not take effect until it has received a two-thirds majority vote.

The new constitution as it now stands, is a reproduction of the Constitution of the United States. The Federal Constitution was transcribed to fit the needs of the school, as far as was possible.

It forever abolishes the question of who shall be represented on the Council by limiting that body to eleven representatives; two elected from each of the four classes and three representatives at large elected from the student body.

The new document creates the three departments of government; legislative, executive, and judiciary. All legislative powers are vested in the Student Council; all executive powers are vested in the student president. (Continued on Page 2.)

ENGLISH COUNCIL TO HAVE MEETING

English Teachers Plan Interesting Program for St. Louis Convention.

An outstanding program has been arranged for the fourteenth annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English to be held in St. Louis, November 27-29. Two general sessions will be held Friday morning and Saturday afternoon while Friday morning and Friday afternoon and Saturday morning and Saturday afternoon will be devoted to special conferences. Thursday the Board of Directors will meet to pass upon problems more important than any they have as yet taken up.

A "progressive" dinner and a free automobile drive are two attractive features of the meeting.

At the general session Friday, Fred Scott, of the University of Michigan, and Miss E. E. Downing of the Michigan State Normal School at Ypsilanti will speak on the improvement of English, and the relation of English teachers to World Peace.

At the joint session of the National Council and the St. Louis Council Saturday, John Farrar, editor of the Bookman will deliver an address on "Men and Books."

The meetings on Friday afternoon will be divided into a high school, college, and normal school section. Mr. Robert Ramsey of the University of Missouri, is one of the speakers for the college group.

The group meetings on Saturday will substitute an elementary and junior high school section for the normal school group. This new section will be addressed by Dr. R. T. Lyman, of the University of Chicago. His subject will be "Reading and Literature in the Junior High School. Professor Edwin Greenlaw, of the University of North Carolina, will speak to the college teachers on the adjustment of English courses to the needs of the students.

The National Council of Teachers of English is affiliated with the N. E. A. which has in a dozen years, increased the number of its members from 5,000 to 140,000 and is able to support a large corps of field workers and investigators. The council is controlled by the teaching body through delegates sent by local associations.

Students Celebrate Bearcat "Comeback"

The culminating event of the Bearcats victory was the party which was given for the student body by the members of the Student Council, assisted by the Student Welfare Committee, in the east gymnasium, Friday evening, November 7 from eight until ten o'clock.

On the main floor of the gymnasium dancing was enjoyed, while those who did not care to dance played rook, hunch and various other games at small tables which were arranged along both sides of the balcony.

Willette Todd was chairman of the dancing section. Beatrice Brown had charge of the games and other entertainment.

Music was furnished by the Yohio orchestra.

About one hundred and twenty guests were in attendance at the party.

The chaperones during the evening were Dean Barnard, Miss Terhune, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Jones and Mr. Wilson.

Prize for Notebook in Vit. Agri. Offered

The Vitalized Agriculture department announce that one hundred dollars will be given as a prize to the grade pupil of a rural school who sends in the best Vitalized Agriculture Notebook before June 1. The donor is a business man who wishes his name withheld. The pupil must complete the book with no outside help except the suggestions of the teacher. Students not residing in this district are ineligible.

The notebooks should contain material from the following departments: geography, or a detailed map of the township; agriculture, a crop survey and plan of rotation; health, school habits and district health; arithmetic, cost of production and value of district crops; home economics, plan of home kitchen as it is and as it should be; English, current events clippings, and the language used; art, illustrations; spelling, as used in notebook.

Accuracy, instead of length, will be the basis of the decision. The judges will be three competent disinterested persons.

The Jean MacKenzie chapter of the Westminster Guild met Wednesday evening November 5 at the home of Miss Claire Davis. The second chapter of "China's Real Revolution" was studied. Mariam Gray led the program after the program a business meeting was held. The sending of a Christmas box to a mission school was discussed. Refreshments were served.

Six Demonstrations in County Dec. 1-8

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent announces that six demonstration meetings will be held in designated schools of the county, December 1-8.

The demonstration meetings are continued this year because of their decided success last year. All teachers of rural schools are expected to attend the demonstrations; superintendents and grade teachers of town schools are invited.

Classes will be conducted by Mr. Somerville, Mr. F. A. Thompson, district rural supervisor, and selected teachers.

The meetings will be held at the following schools; Immaculate Conception school, Campaign, Arkoe, Quitman, Hedge College, and Glendale.

Mr. C. C. Corwin, of Corwin and Murrin, Clothiers, addressed the Salesmanship class of the commerce department, Thursday on the subject, "Salesmanship, Qualities Necessary for it, and My Experiences."

Mr. O. C. Hanna accompanied Mr. Corwin. Mr. Miller, manager of the J. C. Penney Company store of Maryville will address the class this week. All students of the Commerce department are invited to this talk.

The following October awards were made in the typewriting classes: Berthan Hedrick, who wrote 40 words; Wavie McKee, 45 words; and Alta Argo, 53 words; won bronze medals. Ellen Whaley, who wrote 30 words, received a certificate. Cleo Holt received a silver pin.

Mr. Tilton, of Chicago, who recently observed the vitalized agriculture department was pleased with the result of his inspection, according to a letter received from Mrs. Zella Wigen, the home economics demonstrator for the Education department of the International Harvest Company of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dykes and daughter, Mary, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Alderson and son Donald motored from King City Sunday, November 2 to spend the day with Miss Dykes of the College faculty. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dykes are parents of Miss Dykes and Mrs. Alderson is a sister.

Lena Johnson entertained at her home, 612 North Mulberry, November 1, at 2:30 P. M. with a five hundred party. The guest of honor was Miss Ella Groenewold, head of the home economics department at Warrensburg. Other guests were the members of the Kappa Omicron Phi sorority.

Charlene McHugh, a former student, who is teaching near Burlington Junction visited at the Residence Hall Saturday.

Catherine Smiley sends a dollar for the Courier. She is teaching the Maryville School near Stewartville, Mo.

BEARCATS WIN FROM MULES

Maryville Wins by a 9-0 Score in Final Conference Game, Which Was Played With Warrensburg Mules, Friday, November 7.

The Bearcats staged their promised "comeback" last Friday when they bested the Warrensburg Mules 9-0. The Green and White eleven outplayed the Mules all through the game, beating down the Mules' defense by sheer aggressiveness. This was the Bearcats' final conference game and they were out to do their best, and win by playing the best brand of football they knew.

On the first play of the game Hard Luck was with the Bearcats. Eads, a half back, received the kickoff and ran 80 yards through the Mules to the goal line but the umpire ruled he stepped out and the ball was brought back to the fifty yard line. This gave the old fight to the Bearcats and they battled to win. They took the ball by end runs and line plays to the twenty yard line and there Eads tried a place kick which went wide. Warrensburg tried to plunge the Bearcat line but was unsuccessful and was forced to kick.

All during the rest of this half the Mules were on the defense; always when they had the ball it was in their own territory. Just a few seconds before the half ended Eads booted the ball between the uprights for 3 points. The half ended 3-0 for Maryville.

The Bearcats came back the second half realizing that a three point lead was not enough and fought the harder. The Mules also came back harder and it was a real battle played mostly in the Mules' territory. In the third quarter Warrensburg opened up with forward passes and this was the only time that the Maryville goal was threatened.

In the last quarter Ogden, left end, intercepted a pass on the 30 yard line which paved the way for the Bearcats' touchdown. Maryville took the ball to the 4 yard line and Eads went over for the count of six; then failed to make the kick for the extra point. Within five minutes the game ended with neither team getting close enough for a touchdown.

The lineups follow: Maryville: Ogden, I. E.; S. England, I. T.; Graham, I. G.; Bush, C.; Stone, R. E.; Moentman, R. T.; Young, R. E.; Willoughby, G. B.; Masters, I. H. B.; Hamilton, I. B. and Eads, R. H. B.

Warrensburg: Couey, I. E.; Johanson, I. T.; Langlan, I. G.; White, C.; Dick, R. G.; Soph, R. T.; Haynes, R. E.; Whitman, G. B.; Grah, I. H. B.; McCoy, I. B.; and Williams R. H. B.

Officials: Referee—Bunn, University of Kansas; Umpire—Martin, Tulsa University; headlinesman, Ebert, Drake University; time keeper, Raines.

Substituting for Maryville: Fowler for Stone; Fouts for Fowler; Peoples for Young; Wyman for Moentman; Hartman for S. England; H. England for Eads; Ashcroft for Willoughby.

Shall the Student Council have a new Constitution or shall they change the old one, was the question placed before the student body by Temple Allen, president of the Council, at the regular assembly Wednesday morning. The students were asked to consider the matter, and to make suggestions. A meeting was called to select a satisfactory time for the literary meetings.

Plans were made for a Pep meeting to be held at the Court-house Thursday evening at 6:45 with President Lamkin and Mr. W. A. Blagg as the principal speakers. Announcement was also made of the College party to be held in the west gymnasium Friday night, in honor of the Bearcats.

Mr. C. E. Wells conducted the devotional exercises, and read part of the Sermon on the Mount. The historical film Yorktown was shown.

At the school fair held in Holt County Consolidated district number one, the rural school taught by Miss Helen White, a former S. T. C. student, won two silver cups, one for the best rural school exhibit, and one for the best spelling team. The eighth grade of that district, taught by Miss Browning, also a former student, won a cup for having the best grade exhibit.

Maurice Almsstead sustained a broken arm when his Ford "kicked" him Tuesday. He is getting along nicely at the present time.

COLLEGE OATH
"We will never bring disgrace to this our College by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will reverence and obey the College laws, and do our best to instill a like respect and reverence in others. We will strive unceasingly to quicken the students' sense of duty. We will transmit this College to those who come after us greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

OPEN FORUM

How do we TRIM THEM THIS YEAR?

The schools of America are the citadel of American Liberties. They are the oil that makes the machinery of self-government run more smoothly and the foundation of an understanding that is an essential part of our national existence. Have they failed to teach and to instruct the youth of the United States the fundamentals of democratic government?

There is no better place to train citizens than in the schools, the public schools if you please and more important—our colleges. And what could be better training than a practicable, self-governing college? Experience is ever an excellent teacher and errors, only add emphasis to that experience. We, the students of S. T. C., have been granted that right to govern ourselves. And we are failing! Lack of interest, personal interest, has always been the bane of self-governing people and yet we fail to profit from their experience. We must get together, know our system of government and not fail to vote on any measure that put before us.

The President of our Student Council has mentioned something about a proposed Constitution for the Student Body. Quite the thing for at present we have only a constitution governing the Student Council and not the student body.

Read your student handbook to learn about the council and their Constitution and then form your own opinions on the new one when it is

A student who is interested in The S. T. C. students' welfare.

It is a source of regret to educated persons that in a great Republic like ours large numbers of people neglect to go to the polls and vote. Thousands of dollars are spent in advertising every election. We often see such stickers as: "It doesn't matter how you vote, but VOTE."

In an institution like our own we ought not to have to resort to such slogans as these to get students to vote on questions vital to the life of the College. Everyone ought to vote and vote in an intelligent manner. The majority should rule but what rules the majority? Is it ruled by the conclusions drawn from an intelligent study of the situation or by the "machine"? Students of S. T. C., are you going to let a "machine" do YOUR thinking?

elects by the vote of the student body and his committees; and all judicial powers are placed upon a judiciary committee from the Council.

The principles of the initiative and of the referendum are new phases of the proposed constitution. The sole veto power over legislation of the Student Council is given to the President of the College.

The eligibility of candidates to a seat on the council is plainly stipulated in the constitution. It is provided that a candidate must have an "M" standing in scholarship; must have completed 5 hours of college credit; and must not be a regular salaried employee of the college.

Although they are, as the old saying goes, "head over heels in work," teaching all their classes at the college, not to mention several extension classes scattered over the country, Dr. Keller and Mr. Phillips are still managing to keep up with their well known records as speakers. Last week Dr. Keller spoke at Louisburg. Wednesday he and Mr. Phillips, and Leslie Somerville, County Superintendent of Schools, spoke at the dedication exercises of the Dawson School near Burlington Junction. Friday evening Dr. Keller addressed a community meeting at Rea. Monday morning Major Raynor, Mr. Eek, President of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, and he are scheduled to speak to the students of the Maryville High School as a feature of the Armistice Day program. Recently Mr. Phillips has made two addresses at Gallatin, one address at Ravenwood and one at Mercer.

Members of Primary Methods class, Education 25, taught by Miss Paxton, observed a third grade spelling lesson at the Franklin ward school last Monday. The lesson was taught by Miss Frances Holliday, the class-room teacher.

Mrs. Parich, who has been ill, is improving according to a letter received by Mr. Glenn. Mr. Parich's questions about S. T. C. and the students show that he is much interested in the school. Mr. Parich is taking graduate work at Harvard.

Carlos Yehle, William Maple and Simeon Wright former students of S. T. C., now attending the University of Missouri came home last Thursday to spend the week end.

EXCELSIOR NOTES.

The Excelsiors enjoyed an excellent program, Thursday afternoon. Irving Gubser sang "A Dream." Mr. Leeson played a solo. Dr. Keller talked on "The Value of a Literary Society."

Since it became necessary, a short time before the meeting, for Dr. Keller to meet with the freshmen men, they were invited to meet with the Excelsiors.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Gaium Finley addressed the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday on "Crime, Its Cause and Effect." This was the first all student program and as it was so successful, the Y. intends to have them more frequently. Tomorrow the program will be of a patriotic nature in commemoration of Armistice Day.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

A much enjoyed program was given by the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday morning in Room 122. Dorothy England, president, presided and various members took part as follows.

Song, "Follow the Gleam" by audience. Devotional led by Mildred New. Vocal solo: "Hold Thou My Hand" by Briggs, Irene Lowry. Violin solo: "The Rosary" Laura Margaret Raines. Reading, "Mrs. Maher's Story" Helen Naill. Piano solo—Martha Hass. Pianologue "Mammy's Little Soldier Gal" Myrtle Hankins.

PHILOMATHEAN NOTES.

"Patriotism" was the subject of an interesting talk by Major Holf Raynor before the Philomathean Literary Society, Thursday afternoon, November 6. Major Raynor related some of his experiences in the World War and said that he believes that Armistice Day should be a day of rejoicing.

Other interesting features of the program were:

Reading by Tressa House.

Quartette—Jason Kemp, Lois Loson, Irene Lowry and John Hood.

In a tableau Mary Ruth Curfman impersonated "Miss America" while the quartet sang "America, the Beautiful."

Jeannie Blacklock, a former Philo, gave an interesting talk.

NEWMAN CLUB NOTES

An interesting program was given at the regular meeting of the Newman Club, November 4, when Mr. Wallin gave an able discourse on the theme, "Christianizing the Social Order."

At the business meeting, it was decided to have a meeting of the club every week on Tuesday at nine o'clock, unless it would cause a conflict with the college program, and in that case, a meeting would be held in the Club House at night.

The Newman Club girls who are living in the Club House recently effected by an organization as follows: Lucille Cotrin, president; Rita Kinsella, secretary; Nora Kelley, treasurer; Maye Sturm, proctor; Edna Sturm, assistant proctor; Augusta Quell, social promoter; Nellie Farham, business manager.

Screen Production of Disraeli at College

Mr. George Arliss conferred a priceless favor upon devotees of motion pictures when he decided to give his rare artistry to the screen.

After seeing "Disraeli," Mr. Arliss' great stage success, at the College Auditorium Saturday evening, November 8, we have no further doubts of the demand that will be made to see more pictures in which Mr. Arliss has the leading role.

Mr. Arliss is a great actor. He has surrounded himself with a company of excellent players, and the whole play has been worked out on a scale that indicates something of its immensity in the closing scenes, where Mr. Disraeli walks before his queen and bows in homage. The exteriors are exquisite, having been photographed in green bowers and lovely places not often seen in photoplays. The "plot" which the dramatist, Louis N. Parker, has woven for his players is largely fiction. "Disraeli" is not an historical play. It merely gives us an idea of the times in which the great English statesman lived, and shows us something of the opposition with which he had to contend.

Mr. Arliss' "make-up" is strikingly like portraits of "Disraeli" with which we are familiar.

Louise Huff, who has her own tremendous following among motion picture devotees, shares the honors with Mr. Arliss in this picture. She furnishes the love interest in the picture but in a measure the love interest is divided between the girl "Clarissa" played by Miss Huff and the "Lady Beauchamp," played by Mrs. Arliss. The attachment between Disraeli and his wife is one of the great love stories of the ages.

The photography is of high order, and challenges admiration from the first to the last. It is very apparent that "Disraeli" has been a costly production, but with Mr. Arliss and this excellent cast, it was worth every bit of the lavishness we see everywhere in the screen version.

ARMISTICE DAY 1918 — 1924

The same immortal Poppies bloom in the Fields of Flanders, that flowered their benediction when American Heroes fought and died. Nature has not forgotten. Our Thoughts, like living flowers, are set aside in Consecration at this reverent Anniversary Hour. And the trumpets of Heroism sound an anthem over battlefields and in the human heart.

May everyone join us this Armistice Day in reverent remembrance of those American Heroes.

The Stroller

By ????

Place Deleted
October 28, 1924

Dear Stroller:

The Office Cat did so nobly that I am tempted to let another Cat be heard from. You see I knew the Office Cat, and she was—well, sometimes, "not to put too fine a point upon it," when I saw her scratchings in print I thought she was a little catty.

Van Vechten ascribes many virtues and much intelligence to the cat. He would have been even more enthusiastic could he have known "The Office Cat." For when the Tiger in the College kept her claws off me, I enjoyed her cleverness. And, the moral of that, as The Duchess would say, was—Be good. That's the advice a woman always gives. A man says, "Make good."

I used to know the Stroller, too. You know, he was a dreadful pestiferous person. About every other day he'd lose his locker key just to hear Mr. Rickenbrode scold him. He was the beatingest fellow to hunt trouble you ever saw.

I'll bet you never saw Miss Dykes mad. Well, you just ask her about the time the Stroller printed something about her. She was so mad she broke a handle off one of the spoonholders in Perrin Hall yard. I wonder if the spoonholders are still there.

The Stroller used to get in awful bad with Miss Winn. Dean Colbert used to hold 'hime over in mathematics. He never could decide whether to go off and never find out whether two parallel lines could meet or whether to slink into Miss Winn's class after the first five pages had been discussed. The Stroller told me he thought Dean Colbert thought B. S. meant Be Sure, but that Miss Winn thought it meant Be Swift. Between them both, he could never Be Safe.

The Stroller used to be an awful good friend of Mr. Foster. Why, he could go in Mr. Foster's room and look at maps for an hour and Mr. Foster would never say a word to him. He got so he thought Mr. Foster was that way all the time so he signed up for a history course, and what do you think? Mr. Foster was just crazy about talking to him. The Stroller never answered, but he said that didn't phase the professor. Mr. Foster never even noticed his rudeness, just kept on asking his opinion about dates and battles and such things.

The Stroller I knew used to have a terrible time socially. He and Mr. Wilson were the only bachelors on the faculty then. "Wilson and I have decided," he told me, "that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." I wonder if they are still bachelors.

The Stroller told me that of all the college teachers he was most indebted to Miss DeLuce. He once went to a high brow art lecture on Oscar Wilde. He thought he was going to hear something "salacious" as the editor of the Dearborn Independent might say.

Instead, the lecture told about Wilde's visit to America. He said Wilde lectured to a group of miners in the west one evening about Benvenuto Cellini. So well did he do it that when he had finished, the men crowded about Wilde, inquiring, "Why didn't that guy come instead of you?" Wilde explained he had been dead several hundred years. One, more thoughtful than the others, then asked, "Who shot him?"

"Well, who did?" the Stroller's wife asked him when he was the only listener who laughed.

Well, times have changed. I understand Hebe is gone, and now there is no place for the lovers to hide. Well, she didn't do me much good anyway. I got to close pretty soon as I got to finish "Alibi Ike." Say, if you want to improve your style anytime, dear Stroller, get Ring Lardner's "How to Write Short Stories With Samples."

Miss Painter will never again ask you, "What's wrong with this sentence?" Just spring a few "for him and I" and "you was's" in your next composition, and there you'll be in the class cellar—an I or U, I am sure. But they teach the same at both-ends, anyway.

Please, Mr. Present Stroller, be easy with Mr. Cook and Mr. Hawkins. And don't be mean to Mr. Wells. Be good to Mr. Cauffman, and don't tease Miss Anthony.

With kindest regards to you and best wishes for N. W. M. S. T. C., I am

Very sincerely,

An Old Grad and a close friend of a former Stroller.

P. S. You might mention I paid my Alumni dues so I could get to see if this was printed. Why don't you get some other Grads to write for your paper? It might increase your subscription list. On second thought, it might decrease it, especially if their ravings were as bad as mine.

It is whispered about, With reason, no doubt, That next quarter for us a rare chance, That our clever Miss Bass, Whom none can surpass, Will teach us the art of the old clog dance.

The dance that the Irish of old used to do, A dance so ancient that it's now quite new.

Only think what a treat, awaits our young feet, In this wonderful course of Miss Bass's.

For the old-fashioned jigs, And the rag of the nigs, Will make nimble the clumsiest lasses.

The Darkey folk dance is nature's own speech Expressed in rhymed measure, 'tis rhythms they teach.

Lillian Loomis is teaching in the Cowgill, Mo., Schols.
